Say It Right

by Denyse Tessensohn

Winner!

"Perhaps to emphasize a point, look at this sentence: 'It is a true fact, I saw a round circle on the floor yesterday night!' Now, it is a fact that a fact is true, correct? Are there circles which are not round? How about last night?"

The correct ways to say the sentence is of course, 'It is a fact, I saw a circle on the floor last night!'

Sometimes we are just careless, and sometimes we may not know we are making a mistake. Listen, speak without fear, correct yourself and keep improving!

This week's winner is Cellina Tan.

Congratulations!
